DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-3 and 5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Yoshioka et al. Element 20 in figure 12 comprises an alumina refractive element as claimed, which acts to change the propagation direction of the microwave. As per claim 2, element 20 is considered a lens.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 4 and 6-11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yoshioka et al in view of Stevens et al.

Yoshioka et al teach the claimed subject matter except for showing use of a polarizing element to further the efficiency of the plasma. The patent to Stevens et al is applied for teaching use of polarizing elements to effect a more efficient plasma and in view of this teaching it would have been obvious to modify the Yoshioka et al system to use a polarize in the microwave input portion of the apparatus since use of the same increases the power efficiency of the apparatus. Note Column 5 in Stevens et al, paragraph 4. With respect to claim 9 Stevens et al show use of the horn shape of the input wave-guide as conventional and effective.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Aklufi et al, Pirkle et al, Ootera et al, Matuuo et al and Suzuki et al are cited for disclosing pertinent microwave plasma generation systems.
